

DARDARI
H.E. ABDULLA

DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER FOR ECONOMIC AFFAIRS

Syrian Arab Republic

Education:

Diploma in International Relations, London School for Economic and Political Sciences; Master in International Relations, The British Programme, Southern California University; Degree in Economy, American International Richmond University, London; Diploma in Environmental Applied Economy, London University; Diploma in Banking Science, Bahrain Institute for Finance and Banking; Diploma in French language specialised in economy, Grenoble University, France.

Professional Experience: Affairs Editor, Alhayat Daily Journal; 1989–1993, Syria Office Manager, Alhayat Daily Journal; 2996–2002, Economic Consultant, Syrian European Business Centre; 1993-1997, National Director, UNDP; 1997–2002, Head of Trade Promotion Dept., Arab Trade Financing Programme/Arab Monetary Fund; 2001–2003, Resident Representative Assistant, UNDP, Syria; Dec 2003 to 2005, Head of State Planning Commission in Syria; 2005 to present, Deputy Prime Minister for Economic Affairs of Syria.

Academic Experience:

Lecturer in "IT and Development", Information Faculty, Damascus University

Lecturer in International Economic relations, Alshareqah University

Lecturer in Management Theory, Economic Faculty, Damascus University

Lecturer in International Relations, Higher Institute for Political Science, Syria

Lecturer in International Media, Media Department in Literature Faculty, Damascus University

Board Member of the EMBA programme, Higher Institute for Business Administration, Syria